From Key West to Pensacola, Florida State Workers deliver high-quality, critical services for state residents. But chronic low pay and lack of flexibility from the state has led to chronic understaffing, resulting in burnout, stress and high-turnover rates. A fair contract means:

- Safer, more efficient delivery of services by adding existing telecommuting regulations to contract
- Better compensation to recruit talented new workers and retain experienced, skilled professionals.
- A freeze at current level of contributions for health insurance.
